If the conflict is posterior to his/her appointment and he/she has not informed the represented shareholder of its possible existence, he/she will have to inform him/her immediately. In both cases, by not having received new precise voting instructions for each of the items that the representative has to vote in the name of the shareholder, he/she will have to abstain from voting. In particular, a conflict of interest can exist, when the proxy is in one of the situations described in the article 523.2 of the Spanish Corporate Law.
5. In cases where the Company's Counsellors, or any other individual or identity, ask publicly for representation, the regulations contained in the Spanish Corporate Law and the development regulation will be applied. In particular, the document in which the empowerment is notified will have to contain or have the Agenda as an annex, as well as the instructions request for the voting right exercise and the indication of the direction in which the representative will vote in case that there no instructions are provided, or if they are not clear.

The proxy can vote in different direction when there are ignored circumstances when sending the instructions and there is a risk of damaging the interests of the represented individual. If the vote is cast in a different direction than the instructions, the representative will have to inform immediately the represented, by writing in which he/she explains the reasons of the vote.

The public representation request can be also performed by electronic means in accordance with what has been planned in the current Regulation and other Company internal regulation.

It will be considered that there has been a public request when one individual represents more than three shareholders.

6. Apart from complying with the duties stipulated in the previous section 5, if the Counsellors or another individual in his/her name or in name of any of them, have publicly requested representation, the Counsellor that obtains it will not be able to exercise his voting right corresponding to shares represented in those items of the Agenda where there is a conflict of interest, unless he/she has received precise voting instructions for each of the items.
